Welcome Aboard

Welcome to Marine Corps Air Station Yuma. You will soon become an integral part of the Marine Corps' premier aviation training base, serving along with approximately 5,000 fellow active duty Marines and sailors. With access to 2.8 million acres of bombing and aviation training ranges and superb flying weather, MCAS Yuma supports 80 percent of the Corps' air-to-ground aviation training. The air station annually hosts about 100 aviation units, bringing an average of 600 aircraft and 14,000 personnel for ongoing training that takes place throughout the year.

The ideal weather and location along the Colorado River make Yuma and the surrounding area an oasis in the southwestern Sonoran Desert. The area offers a variety of recreational opportunities and water sports as well as seasonal hunting and fishing.

Whether you're assigned to the air station or one of the tenant commands, your stay here is sure to be an enjoyable one.

Covering five square miles of south-eastern Yuma, the air station is home to a number of tenant units including Marine Aviation Weapons and Tactics Squadron-1, Marine Aircraft Group-13, Marine Wing Support Squadron-371, Marine Fighter Training Squadron-401, Marine Air Control Squadron-1 (Reinforced) and Combat Service Support Detachment-16.

HOUSING

Military personnel with accompanying family members reporting for duty on Permanent Change of Station orders are required to report to the station Housing Office, Building 1080. It is important that no commitments for housing in the local community be made by incoming personnel without checking the current housing application policy. A Family Housing Application (DD-Form 1746) must be completed at the office upon arrival if you are interested in residing in base housing. This form may be mailed but does not preclude the requirement to report to the Housing Office within 30 days of arrival. Applicants' names will be made active on the waiting list when they report to the office in person. The control date for the waiting list will be the date of detachment from the last permanent duty station. Failure to report within 30 calendar days will change the control date to the date the applicant reports to the Housing Office.

The driver must present a current and valid state registration, driver's license and proof of liability insurance required under Arizona law ($15,000 per person, $30,000 per accident, and $10,000 for property coverage).

Privately owned vehicles traveling aboard the air station are subject to spot checks by military police for current state and base registration and safety inspections.

In addition to all vehicle registration requirements, motorcycle operators must pass a motorcycle safety course offered by the air station's Ground Safety Department prior to the issuance of a decal.

FIREARMS REGISTRATION

All firearms and dangerous weapons, to include BB guns, pellet guns, blow guns, air-operated weapons, K-bars and hunting knives with blade lengths over four inches, bows and arrows, dart guns and sling shots, must be presented to and registered at the Pass and Registration Office, Building 952, telephone number (928) 269-2888, within 24 hours of the first work day after the weapon is brought aboard the station. While pending registration, firearms and dangerous weapons will not be maintained in the bachelor enlisted quarters, Dos Rios Inn or inside a privately owned vehicle. These firearms and weapons will be stored in the unit armory. Firearms and dangerous weapons not properly registered or stored are subject to confiscation by Military Police.

PET REGISTRATION

All dogs and cats living in base housing must be currently registered with Provost Marshal's Office (PMO) Animal Services, Building 916, within 14 days of arrival. Upon registration with Animal Services, your dog or cat will be issued an MCAS identification tag that is to be worn by the pet at all times. Point of contact for PMO animal services is Michele Nixon at (928) 269-6303.

In addition, Arizona state law, as well as base regulations, requires the following pet vaccinations and licensure:

Dogs: must be currently vaccinated for Rabies at four months of age. Dogs will then receive a Rabies booster in one year. After the one-year booster, dogs must be re-vaccinated for Rabies every three years. Licensing: all dogs must be licensed with Yuma County Humane Society (YCHS). Proof of current Rabies vaccination must be presented to YCHS to purchase a license tag that your dog will wear at all times.

YCHS is located at 285 N. Figueroa Ave. Business hours are Tuesday-Saturday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the phone number is (928) 782-1621.

Additionally, all puppies will receive the (DA2PP-CVK) vaccine at eight and twelve weeks of age. At sixteen weeks, puppies receive the (DA2PP-CVK-LCI) vaccine. Thereafter they get an annual booster. Your veterinarian may advise additional vaccinations to protect your pet's health.

Cats: all cats are required by base ordinance to be currently vaccinated for Rabies at four months of age. Cats will then receive a yearly Rabies booster.

Additionally, cats will receive the (FVRCP) vaccinations at eight, 12, and 16 weeks of age and get an annual booster thereafter. Again, your veterinarian may advise additional vaccinations to protect your pet's health. Cats do not require licensing with Yuma County Humane Society.

Veterinary services are provided on base at building 591. The station Veterinarian comes from Yuma Proving Ground and holds clinic hours on Wednesdays by appointment. You may schedule an appointment by calling the YPG clinic at (928) 328-2064.

You are also welcome to use the services of any local civilian Veterinarian.

Assistance may be provided through confidential counseling, interest-free loans or grants, and referrals to various other agencies.

Parents may still qualify for the layette up to one month after the baby is born by having a one-on-one budget done in the office. Layettes contain a towel, washcloth, crib sheets, blankets, sleepers, onesies, booties, baby book and more.

Commissary

The commissary sells groceries at cost, plus a 5 percent surcharge, saving you an average of 30 percent or more over civilian grocery stores — even more on meat. The 5 percent surcharge is not a profit or a tax. It pays for commissary renovations and building new stores.

Many grocery stores advertise “loss leaders” to lure you into the store. Then they hit you with high prices on other items. Commissaries sell everything at cost. You save on your overall grocery bill; not just on “loss leaders.” You don’t need a “Club Card” to enjoy the savings and you don’t need to buy in bulk. Just show your military ID, it’s your passport to savings.

A family of four shopping consistently at their commissary saves more than $2,700 annually, and single shoppers save nearly $1,000!

We care about your health as much as we care about keeping your finances in-check. Look for “It’s Your Choice, Make It Healthy” shelf talkers throughout the commissary. They provide tips from the 2005 Dietary Guidelines for Americans on selecting healthy foods. And when you’re on the run, looking for a quick lunch, try our deli sandwiches in the Grab N’ Go section. They’re a healthy alternative to fast food.

Also check out our new plant section with many varieties to enhance your living or working environment.

And when you need a gift, Virtual Commissary makes it easy to be thoughtful, whether you're remembering friends and family, military members overseas or even yourself. Go to www.commissaries.com and click on "Virtual Commissary 24/7" to see the attractive gift baskets ready to ship with a click of the mouse. Virtual Commissary will be expanding in 2006, so check back often.

MCAS — Past and Present

The year was 1928. The place — 640 acres near Yuma covered with cactus, brush and desert wildlife. It was that year that Col. Benjamin F. Fly persuaded the federal government to lease the land from Yuma County. A 20-year lease with an option for an additional 20 years at $1 per year, was signed. Fly Field became a reality.

Aviation was in its infancy, and Fly Field became the center of attention in Yuma. During the summer of 1928, it was used as a stopover point for 25 planes in a New York to Los Angeles air race. It was used sporadically by private aircraft until 1941 when the U.S. government, through the Civil Aeronautics Administration, authorized an expenditure for permanent runways.

When the United States entered World War II, an air base was erected with the astounding speed which characterized the war effort. By early 1943, Yuma Army Air Base began graduating classes of pilots. The base became one of the busiest flying schools in the nation, training pilots of AT-6 single engine trainers, T-17 multi-engine trainers and B-17 Flying Fortresses.

At the end of the war, all flight activity here ceased and the area was partially reclaimed by the desert. During the period of inactivity, it was controlled successively by the War Assets Administration, the U.S. Corps of Engineers and the Department of the Interior's Bureau of Land Reclamation, which used it as a headquarters for its irrigation projects.

On July 7, 1951, the Air Force reactivated the base, and the 4750th Air Base Squadron resumed training as part of the Western Air Defense Forces. The airfield was named Yuma Air Base, but was renamed Vincent Air Force Base in 1956 in memory of Brig. Gen. Clinton D. Vincent, a pioneer of bombing techniques, who died in 1955.

From Air Force Base to Marine Corps Air Station

The facility was signed over to the Navy Jan. 1, 1959, and nine days later, Col. L.K. Davis became the first commanding officer of the newly designated Marine Corps Auxiliary Air Station. On July 20, 1962, the designation was changed to Marine Corps Air Station.

From 1969 until 1987, the air station served primarily as a training base for pilots assigned to Marine Corps Crew Readiness Training Group-10, flying the F-4 Phantom, A-4 Skyhawk and AV-8A Harrier.

Since then, the main runway has been extended to 13,300 feet (enough concrete for 37 miles of two-lane highway) and the Tactical Aircrew Combat Training System has been added. The system is designed to provide realistic air-to-air combat training with electronically simulated weapons firing to all Navy and Marine squadrons.

In 1987, Marine Aircraft Group-13, with Marine Attack Squadrons 211, 214, 311 and 513, replaced MCCRTG-10 as the major tenant command aboard the station. The move also brought Marine Wing Support Squadron-371 to Yuma, joining Marine Air Control Squadron-7 and 2nd Light Antiaircraft Missile Battalion.

Throughout the fall of 1990, virtually every Marine Corps fixed wing squadron that participated in Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm underwent pre-deployment training on Yuma's ranges.

On September 1, 1994, subsequent to the deactivation of 2d LAAM Bn., 1st LAAM Bn. was reactivated, consisting of H&S Battery and three firing batteries. 1st LAAM Bn. then merged with MACS-7 on July 11, 1997 resulting in the redesignation of MACS-7 as MACS-7 (Reinforced). On June 26, 1998, the squadron reorganized and was redesignated MACS-1 (Rein).

Mission

Today, MCAS Yuma is the busiest air station in the Marine Corps and also the busiest in the department of the Navy. It is also the second largest contributor to the economy of Yuma County.

Its primary mission is to support aerial weapons training for the Atlantic and Pacific Fleet Marine Forces and Navy, and to serve as a base of operations for Marine Aviation Weapons and Tactics Squadron-1 and 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing units, to include Marine Aircraft Group-13.

MCAS – PAST AND PRESENT

As the scheduling authority for the Bob Stump Training Range Complex, MCAS Yuma provides fleet squadrons access to 10,000 square miles of special-use air space designated for military aviation training and almost 2,000 square miles of underlying land reserved as aerial bombing and gunnery ranges. Collectively, this complex is the largest tactical aviation training range utilized by the Marine Corps.

Each year, approximately 100 aviation units deploy here to train on Yuma's 2.8 million-acre range complex. These deployments, ranging from a few days to seven weeks, bring about 14,000 personnel and 600 aircraft to Yuma annually. Two of the main contributors to the immense influx of aircraft and personnel deployments to MCAS Yuma are the Weapons and Tactics Instructor Course and Exercise Desert Talon, both hosted by Marine Aviation Weapons and Tactics Squadron-1.

MCAS Yuma is also the only joint-use air station in the Marine Corps. Through an agreement between the Marine Corps and Yuma County, MCAS provides all air traffic control, crash crew services, airfield security, and maintains the runways and taxiways for both MCAS and Yuma International Airport.

Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron

Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron is responsible for the day-to-day operations aboard the air station to keep it running as a small community within the community.

Approximately 1,000 Marines and Sailors are assigned to H&HS. With assistance from roughly 1,200 civilians who work aboard MCAS Yuma, they work to keep the station operational through the efforts of a variety of units and sections including air traffic control, airfield operations, administration, logistics, range management, explosive ordnance disposal, communications, combat camera, aircraft rescue and fire-fighting, military police, postal, legal, public affairs, search and rescue, financial operations, and the enlisted dining facility.

The squadron administrative office may be contacted at (928) 269-2840.

Marine Aircraft Group – 13

Marine Aircraft Group-13, part of the 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing based at Marine Corps Air Station, Miramar, Calif., is comprised of Marine Aviation Logistics Squadron-13, Marine Attack Squadrons 211, 214, 311 and 513. VMAs 211, 214, 311 and 513 provide close-air support, conduct armed reconnaissance, and assume limited air-defense roles.

MAG-13 was activated in San Diego March 1, 1942, and participated in the Marshall Islands campaign during World War II. It was deactivated at the close of the war.

Reformed in March of 1951, MAG-13 moved to Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii, in early 1953 with two fighter squadrons and Marine Air Control Squadron-2. Aviation units based at Marine Corps Air Station El Toro, Calif., were rotated to Marine Corps Air Station, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii, every six months for training until April of 1954.

On May 1, 1956, the 1st Marine Brigade assumed its title in lieu of the 1st Provisional Marine Air Ground Task Force designation, and MAG-13 provided the air support for this unique organization. It gained the distinction of being the only composite Marine Aircraft Group comprised of fighter, attack and helicopter squadrons, supporting the ground arm of the brigade.

In June of 1965, MAG-13 became a unit of the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing of Marine Corps Air Station, Iwakuni, Japan, where it operated until October of 1966. With elements deployed to Chu Lai, Republic of Vietnam, it supported the III Marine Amphibious Force and other forces in I Corps and II Corps tactical zones, Laos, North Vietnam and Cambodia.

MAG-13 returned to El Toro in October 1970 and moved to Yuma October 1, 1987.

MAG-13 deployed in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom in January 2003 aboard the USS Bonhomme Richard. With squadrons deployed aboard 4 different amphibious vessels and one land based, MAG-13 flew round-the-clock, providing close air support to ground units as they pressed toward Baghdad. With more than 75 aircraft in theater, MAG-13 delivered a significant amount of munitions on enemy targets without losing a single aircraft or Marine to enemy fire. MAG-13 saw its last unit return from Operation Iraqi Freedom in July 2003.

Headquartered in building 505, the adjutant's office can be reached at (928) 269-2124.

Marine Attack Squadron – 211

Marine Attack Squadron-211 is one of four AV-8B Harrier squadrons assigned to Marine Aircraft Group-13, 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing. Its mission is to provide close-air support, conduct armed reconnaissance and limited air-defense to Marine expeditionary forces.

VMA-211 began as Fighter Squadron 4M in 1937, flying the Grumman F-3F biplane fighter aircraft at Naval Air Station San Diego, Calif. The squadron moved to Ewa, Hawaii, in January 1941, and was redesignated VMF-211 while transitioning to Grumman F4F-3 Wildcats.

In November 1941, VMF-211 flew 12 Wildcats aboard the USS Enterprise for movement to Wake Island, the scene of the squadron's heroic battle. On Dec. 8, the Japanese attacked, destroying seven of the 12 aircraft on the ground.

In the next two weeks, the remaining five planes repelled numerous attacks and inflicted great losses on the enemy. During the course of the defense, the Marine ground forces and VMF-211 caused the loss of at least four enemy warships — the first major Japanese naval vessels sunk during the Pacific war. At least 21 enemy aircraft were shot down by flak and VMF-211.

The first Marine airman to be awarded the Medal of Honor in World War II was VMF-211's Capt. Henry "Hammering Hank" Elrod. Wake Island was finally overrun on Dec. 25 by a numerically superior enemy.

The squadron's rear echelon was subsequently transferred to Palmyra Atoll in the South Pacific and adopted the name "Avengers" in memory of those squadron members who were killed or captured on Wake Island.

Flying the F-4U Corsair for the remainder of the war, VMF-211 participated in the Treasury-Bougainville,

MCAS – PAST AND PRESENT

Bismark, Northern Solomon, Leyte and Southern Philippine campaigns. After World War II, VMF-211 participated in the occupation of China and returned to Edenton, N.C., in 1949. While operating aboard the USS Coral Sea in 1952, the squadron was redesignated VMA-211.

In 1957, the squadron received its first A-4 Skyhawks and subsequently moved to El Toro, Calif., in 1958. With escalation of the Vietnam conflict, VMA-211 moved to Japan in 1965 and commenced the first of four deployments to the Republic of Vietnam. In August 1976, the squadron returned to El Toro where it replaced its old A-4Es with the latest Skyhawk model, the A-4M.

In September 1987, the squadron celebrated an aviation milestone when it passed 30 years of flying the McDonnell Douglas A-4 Skyhawk.

After successfully completing the last overseas deployment with the A-4M Skyhawk in 1989, VMA-211 began transferring these aircraft to the 4th Marine Aircraft Wing in preparation for transition to the AV-8B Night Attack aircraft.

In June of 1990, the squadron began flying the Night Attack model. And in May 1992, a detachment from VMA-211 embarked on the first AV-8B Night Attack deployment overseas. During the period of 1992-1998, VMA-211 participated in numerous squadron deployments to the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing in Iwakuni and Okinawa Japan, and fully supported six plane detachments as part of a composite Air Combat Element squadron for the 31st, 11th, and 13th Marine Expeditionary Units. During this time, the Avengers were awarded Marine Corps Aviation Association "Attack Squadron of the Year" three times, in 1995, 1996, and 1998.

In September 2000, the squadron began introduction of the latest Harrier variant, the AV-8B II+ radar aircraft. The squadron soon fielded a compliment of both Radar and Night Attack Harriers.

Answering the call that followed the September 11 terror attacks, the squadron deployed to the Arabian Sea aboard the U.S.S. Bonhomme Richard. The Avengers lived up to their name in Operation Enduring Freedom, flying combat missions against targets in Afghanistan from January to March of 2002.

After a short break, the following January found the Avengers once again in familiar territory, aboard the Bonhomme Richard. This time the squadron was headed for the Persian Gulf, in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom. In one month of combat flying, the squadron flew over 360 sorties and 640 hours of flight time. The squadron returned to Yuma in May 2003 and today stands ready to provide offensive air support to Marines around the world, "...in every clime and place."

Marine Attack Squadron – 214

On 1 July 1942, the VMF-214 "Swashbucklers" were commissioned at Ewa, Oahu, in the territory of Hawaii with Captain George E. Britt as the Commanding Officer. With a nucleus of three officers and twenty-three enlisted men, all veterans of the Battle of Midway under VMF-221, training operations were initiated. Organization to full strength was gradual and not completed until January 1943. In February of that same year the squadron deployed to Espiritu Santos, New Hebrides, in the south Pacific. The squadron was assigned to daily patrol duty over places such as Tulagi, the Russell Islands, and Guadalcanal, and escort duty for bomber strikes on Munda, New Georgia and Kahili, Bougainville. Later that spring, the squadron deployed in the Russells, Guadalcanal and was finally transferred to Efate, New Hebrides, for transitioning to the F4U Corsair in May. After operations during the summer in Munda, and in the Russells, the squadron was transferred to Australia for rest and relaxation after the death of its then current Commanding Officer, Major Bill Pace in August 1943.

In that same month, Major Gregory "Pappy" Boyington (who was later awarded the Medal of Honor) formed a group of twenty-seven young men to form the original "Black Sheep" of VMF-214. The squadron was re-designated as the "Black Sheep" and activated on 7 September 1943. The call sign was chosen by the squadron to commemorate the unusual way in which the Squadron had been formed. The pilots ranged from experienced combat veterans, with several air-to-air victories to their credit, to new replacement pilots from the United States. Major Boyington and Major Stan Bailey were given permission to form these unassigned pilots into a squadron, with the understanding that they would have less than four weeks to have them fully trained and ready for combat. They were very successful. They met the Japanese over their own fields and territories and piled up the smashing record of 203 planes destroyed or damaged. The squadron produced eight aces with 97 confirmed air-to-air kills, sunk several troop transports and supply ships, and destroyed many installations. For their actions, the original Black Sheep members were awarded the Presidential Unit Citation for extraordinary heroism in action. The Black Sheep ended their second combat tour on 8 January 1944, five days after Major Boyington was shot down and captured by the Japanese. The original Black Sheep were disbanded and the pilots were placed in the pilot pool in MAG-11. During the 1940s, VMF-214 had many homes in the United States, including Ewa, Hawaii; Santa Barbara, Calif., El Centro, Calif., and El Toro, Calif.

Flying eight F4U-4B Corsairs on 3 August 1950, VMF-214 became the first Marine Squadron to see action in Korea. Flying from the USS Sicily Straight (CVE-116) and the USS Boxer (CV-21), the Black Sheep completed two combat tours in Korea. VMF-214 (along with its sister squadrons) flew over 25,000 sorties from carriers and participated in key battles including the Inchon landing, defense of the Pusan Perimeter, and the withdrawal from the Chosin Reservoir. In all battles, they provided nearly continual air cover, interdicting supply and communication lines, and inflicting heavy damage on numerous ground emplacements and enemy armor.

The period between Korea and Vietnam saw several significant changes for the Black Sheep. VMF was changed to VMA on 9 July 1957, designating the Squadron as an “attack” vice “fighter”, since the Black Sheep’s primary function had been in a ground attack role since the second combat tour in World War II. The Black Sheep transitioned to the FJ-4 Fury, and became one of the first squadrons to deploy overseas, flying their aircraft from Hawaii to join the USS Hancock in the western Pacific. On 23 January 1962, the Black Sheep transitioned from the FJ-4B Fury to the A4B Skyhawk. This began a 27-year association between the Black Sheep and follow-on versions of the Skyhawk.

On 21 June 1965, the first Black Sheep Skyhawks flew into Chu Lai, Republic of Vietnam. The Black Sheep rotated out of Vietnam in February 1966 to pick up new pilots and personnel. In April 1966, the Black Sheep deployed back to Chu Lai, where combat missions were again flown in support of the Republic of Vietnam. The Black Sheep Squadron flew 14,000 hours in combat, 13,000 sorties, and dropped more than 10,000 tons of ordnance. For their service,

MCAS – PAST AND PRESENT

VMA-214 was awarded the Navy Unit Commendation with Bronze Star.

VMA-214 returned from Vietnam in April 1967 and relocated from Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii, to El Toro. Upon arrival they were reassigned to Marine Aircraft Group 33, 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing, Fleet Marine Force Pacific. There the unit became recognized as an operational training squadron for attack pilots, many of who were replacement pilots bound for Vietnam. During December of 1970, the Black Sheep were reassigned to Marine Aircraft Group 13. Through the late 1970's, and into the 1980's, the squadron participated in the Unit Deployment Program, rotating between Marine Aircraft Group 12 and Marine Aircraft Group 13. In October 1982, the Black Sheep were awarded the Lawson H.M. Sanderson Award for Attack Squadron of the Year. In September 1987, the Black Sheep squadron once again relocated, this time to MCAS Yuma, Arizona. On 17 October 1987, the Black Sheep again made history by becoming the first squadron to win the prestigious Sanderson award for a second time.

In June 1989, the Black Sheep introduced single-seat fixed wing "Night Attack" aircraft to the Marine Corps with the first operational squadron of AV-8B Night Attack Harrier II's. Throughout the 1990s, VMA-214 continued to support multiple exercises and Marine Expeditionary Unit deployments, including Operation Continue Hope and Operation Quick Draw in Somalia, Operation Distant Runner in Burundi, and Operation Desert Fox in the North Arabian Gulf.

The turn of the century presented some of the most challenging yet rewarding years in Black Sheep history. Immediately following an extended fleet-wide grounding of all Harrier Activities, the Black Sheep split the Squadron and deployed simultaneously in support of two separate Marine Expeditionary Units (Special Operations Capable). The Squadron deployed to Iwakuni, Japan, while Detachment Bravo sailed in support of the 13th MEU aboard USS Tarawa (LHA-1). The 13th MEU Black Sheep participated in humanitarian operations in East Timor, Indonesia, and in Operation Determined Response off the coast of Yemen, in support of the USS Cole's recovery.

In February 2003, the Black Sheep again answered the Nation's call to arms. In response to increased tension in the Middle East, the squadron deployed its 16 airplanes and over 250 personnel to Ahmed Al Jaber Air Base, Kuwait. As the only land-based Harrier squadron, the Black Sheep were overhead as Marines of I Marine Expeditionary Force pushed North into Iraq. From the initial strikes of 19 March (the storming of Baghdad) and through the rebuilding of Iraq during the summer of 2003, VMA-214 Harriers were above, providing close air support, conducting aerial interdiction, and armed reconnaissance. The Black Sheep flew 1,547 combat sorties for 2,163 hours, and dropped 236,000 pounds of ordnance in support of Operations Southern Watch and Iraqi Freedom.

In May 2004, VMA-214 conducted simultaneous deployments to the Middle East in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom II. As the Black Sheep became the first Harriers to be land based in Iraq (along with the VMA-542 Tigers), the 11th MEU detachment embarked upon the USS Belleau Wood for transit to Iraq. With the aid of the LITENING II pod, the Black Sheep provided tactical air reconnaissance, convoy escort, and close air support for multiple Marine, Army, and Air Force ground units in places such as Fallujah, Hit, Baghdad, Najaf, Ramadi, Husaybah, and other numerous small towns. As VMA-214 was preparing to re-deploy to the United States, the VMA-214 boat detachment was establishing itself at Al Asad, Iraq, in support of the 11th MEU. During their short stay, VMA-214 amassed 1,121 hours during 705 sorties. The boat detachment flew over 1,250 combat sorties, released 30 laser guided bombs, 23 laser guided air-to-ground missiles and shot over 4,000 rounds of 25mm gun rounds. In the months since returning from deployment, the Blacksheep have continued their tradition of leadership by introducing the new AV-8B software upgrade to the fleet and were the first operational squadron to release Joint Direct Attack Munition ordnance both land based and off amphibious ships.

To this day, the Black Sheep of VMA-214 (both at home and in Iraq) are continuing in their tradition of true and faithful service to the Nation and to the Corps. They have continued to produce and maintain a highly skilled and tactically proficient cadre of pilots and maintainers. From the time of "Pappy"

Boyington to the present day, the Black Sheep have demonstrated a standard of excellence and esprit de corps that has marked them as one of the finest military units of our Country and Corps.

Marine Attack Squadron - 311

Marine Attack Squadron-311 was initially commissioned a fighter squadron on Dec. 1, 1942, at Cherry Point, N.C., flying the SNJ Texan trainers. In April 1943, they received the new Vought F4U-1 Corsair and entered the Pacific Theater where they served with distinction until the end of World War II.

On Oct. 6, 1943, the squadron catapulted from the deck of the USS Nassau to Samoa Naval Air Station in one of the earliest catapult operations of the F4U. Two days later, VMF-311 flew to Wallis Island and remained there until January 1944. During America's "Island Hopping" campaign across the Pacific, the squadron's mission was to isolate Japanese forces on the bypassed islands, deny their escape and prevent their use of airstrips.

The squadron continued strafing and bombing missions until moving to Okinawa in March 1945, and was the first Marine squadron to use fighter aircraft for dive bombing missions. The squadron, now flying the F4U-1C (a modification which included four 20mm cannons and pylons for 5-inch rockets), downed its first aircraft on April 7, 1945. Combat air patrols were the predominant mission until the war ended.

After the war, VMF-311 moved to Yokosuka, Japan, as part of the occupational forces. The nickname "Hell's Belles" was adopted by the squadron during World War II but was seldom used.

In April 1948, '311 received the first jet aircraft to be introduced to Marine aviation — the Shooting Star — followed by the F9F2 Panther in September.

It was during this time the squadron acquired the letters "WL" as its tail designator, leading to the nickname Willy Lovers. The evidence suggests that it was this nickname which inspired the heart on the squadron insignia.

With the outbreak of war in Korea, the squadron moved to Pusan, South Korea, where it flew the first Marine jet combat mission on Dec. 10, 1950, providing close air support for 8th Army units near the Chosin Reservoir. Similar missions were flown despite inclement weather, maintenance problems, and enemy anti-aircraft fire. In two and a half years, the squadron amassed 18,851 combat sorties. Even after the armistice was signed, VMF-311 continued to fly training missions to maintain readiness.

It was early in 1957 that VMF-311 began to be referred to as the "Tomcats." This period also brought the new Grumman F9F-8 Cougar, thus upgrading the squadron's capabilities. On June 1, 1957, the unit was redesignated Marine Attack Squadron-311. This didn't create any organizational problems as the emphasis was simply placed on a mission the squadron had so aptly performed during World War II and Korea.

In the summer of 1958, VMA-311 began receiving the Douglas A4D2 Skyhawks, later redesignated the A-4B. The Tomcats began receiving the new

MCAS – PAST AND PRESENT

A-4Es in mid-1963 and in March 1965 deployed to Japan with 20 A-4Es. During April 1965, VMA-311 was alerted to prepare to deploy to the Republic of Vietnam.

In Vietnam, the tempo of operations was intense. Operating from the air base at Chu Lai, the squadron flew 240 sorties flown from May 5-8, 1968, and by September the Tomcats had logged 25,000 combat sorties and were the undisputed pacesetter in what was believed to be a record number of combat sorties for any fixed wing squadron in a single conflict of war.

The squadron relocated to Da Nang air base in the summer of 1970. For VMA-311 the war ended on Jan. 29, 1973, with a total of 54,625 combat sorties flown and 105,000 tons of ordnance dropped in support of troops throughout Southeast Asia.

The squadron flew the A-4 aircraft until its return from Iwakuni, Japan, in June 1988, and was moved to MCAS Yuma along with other MAG-13 squadrons. Prior to its transition into the new AV-8B aircraft, VMA-311 was the proud recipient of the coveted Lawson H.M. Sanderson Award, qualifying the squadron for the 1988 Marine Attack Squadron of the Year by the Marine Corps Aviation Association.

On Aug. 11, 1990, the Tomcats were ordered to Saudi Arabia in support of I Marine Expeditionary Force units deployed for Operation Desert Shield. Operating from the King Abdul Aziz naval air base, VMA-311 was the forward-most fixed wing aircraft unit in theater.

On Jan. 17, the Tomcats became the first Marine squadron to employ the AV-8B Harrier in combat, striking Iraqi positions in southern Kuwait in preparation for the coalition ground offensive. During the Persian Gulf War, the squadron flew 1,017 combat sorties and dropped 8,000 tons of ordnance on enemy targets.

Returning to Yuma in April 1991, the squadron was awarded the MCAA's Attack Squadron of the Year for 1991. On April 9, 1992, the Tomcats received their first Night Attack AV-8B and was formally assigned as a night attack squadron.

Continuing the Tomcats' tradition of firsts, on 3 November 2001, VMA-311 Harriers attached to the 15th Marine Expeditionary Unit embarked aboard the USS Peleliu became the first Harriers to fly combat missions in Afghanistan during Operation Enduring Freedom.

In true Tomcat fashion, the Marines of VMA-311 again answered the their nation's call as they deployed to the Northern Arabian Gulf in January 2003. Almost 59 years to the day after VMF-311's first combat sortie in World War II, the Tomcats flew their first combat sortie of Operation Iraqi Freedom on 21 March 2003. During the war they dropped 77 tons of precision ordnance, destroying or neutralizing 132 Iraqi targets.

Upon their return, the Tomcats of VMA-311 consolidated as a squadron in preparation for a deployment to Al Asad, Iraq, in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom II as well as fielding a detachment in support of the 31st Marine Expeditionary Unit. On November 7, 2004, the squadron left for Iraq, ferrying 10 aircraft to the area of operation. Within 8 hours of arriving at Al Asad Air Base, the Tomcats were flying combat sorties over the skies of Fallujah and Ramadi. In all, the Tomcats flew 6,317.1 hours in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom II from November 2004 to May 2005.

Marine Attack Squadron - 513

Marine Attack Squadron-513 was first commissioned as VMF-513 on February 15, 1944 at Marine Corps Auxiliary Field Oak Grove, N.C., flying the Grumman F6F "Hellcat." The squadron was transferred to Marine Corps Auxiliary Field Walnut Range, Ark., in September 1944 and in December, the squadron moved to Mojave, Calif., where it was designated VMF(CVS)-513.

On June 15, 1945, VMF(CVS)-513 departed San Diego aboard the USS Vella Gulf and participated in carrier operations in the Pacific, making stops in Ewa, Eniwetok, Saipan, and Guam. They also provided close air support for the 3rd Marine Division in the battle for Okinawa, Japan. During the period between WWII and the Korean Conflict, VMF-513 operated from MCAS El Toro, Calif. When it transitioned to the F4U-5N, the squadron was designated VMF(N)-513.

In August 1950, the squadron deployed to Japan under operational control of the U.S. 5th Air Force. During the summer of 1952, VMF(N)-513 received the "Skynight," the squadron's first jet aircraft. In prosecuting the Korean Conflict with the new jet fighter, VMF(N)-513 was credited with 10 kills, making aviation history with the first radar kill of an enemy jet aircraft at night. Following the Korean Conflict and a three-year tour in Japan, the squadron returned to MCAS El Toro.

On July 26, 1958, VMF-513 received the F4D "Skyray" aircraft. On August 1, 1963, the squadron was designated VMFA-513 after transitioning into the F-4B "Phantom II." In November 1964, VMFA-513 deployed to NAS Atsugi, Japan. During June 1965, the squadron moved to MCAS Cherry Point, N.C. At MCAS Cherry Point, the squadron flew the F-4B "Phantom" until June 30, 1970, when it was commissioned as cadre, awaiting delivery of the first Marine AV-8A "Harrier" on April 16, 1971.

With the arrival of the first "Jump Jet," the squadron was designated VMA-513. The squadron saw participation in the Navy's Interim D Sea Control Ship evaluation and the DOD's Sortie Rate Validation Test in 1971 and 1972. Upon reassignment to the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing, VMA-513 departed for MCAS Iwakuni, Japan, during July 1974 aboard the USS Tripoli. A six-plane detachment subsequently departed in September 1974 for a six-month Mediterranean deployment aboard the USS Guam. During November 1976, VMA-513 was ordered back to the United States and assigned to Marine Combat Crew Readiness Training Group-10 at MCAS Yuma (designated Marine Aircraft Group-13 on October 1, 1987). In departing for the United States, a detachment of six-aircraft remained behind, initiating six-month rotational detachments at MCAS Iwakuni, Japan.

During the 1980s, the Nightmares continued to deploy around the world from the familiar Western Pacific to a six-week Atlantic deployment with the Spanish Navy Harriers aboard the USS Guam during "Ocean Venture '81." Numerous deployments were also conducted to Nellis AFB, Nev.; Cold Lake and Alberta, Canada; Naval Air Station Fallon, Nev.; Twentynine Palms, Calif; and several detachments aboard amphibious assault ships USS Tripoli, Peleliu, and Tarawa.

In October 1987, the squadron received the improved AV-8B Harrier II, which it employed in February 1991 in support of the 15th Marine Expeditionary Unit during Operation Desert Storm; logging 103 combat sorties with no losses. After successfully conducting combat operations from an austere environment in Southwest Asia, the Nightmares returned home with all assets and no loss of life. VMA-513 has long been known for its aviation firsts, which include the first kill of a supersonic drone with a sidewinder missile in 1964 and the first USMC squadron to transition to the AV-8A "Harrier" in 1970.

With the introduction of the "Night Attack Harrier" and more recently the radar-equipped "Harrier II Plus" in 2001, the Nightmares continued to exercise and develop "Fixed Wing" Short Take-Off and Vertical Landing (STOVL) concepts in support of Marine Expeditionary Forces.

In 2002 the Nightmares were called upon to deploy worldwide in support of operations overseas. First, a detachment of six aircraft deployed in support of the 11th MEU and later in the year the remainder of the squadron deployed to Bagram, Afghanistan, to support Operation Enduring Freedom. After being deployed for a year, the Nightmares returned home in 2003 to regroup and redeploy. Late 2003 saw the Nightmares deploy in support of the 13th MEU and the first ever Expeditionary Surface Group One.

Throughout its history, and currently in the Global War on Terror, the Nightmares of VMA-513 have skillfully operated their machines in combat to the fullest extent of their capabilities.

MCAS – PAST AND PRESENT

Most recently operating from a dilapidated former Soviet airstrip in Afghanistan, to a former Iraqi airfield west of Baghdad, to the steel deck of the USS Peleliu, the Nightmares have remained true to their history and employed the AV-8B Harrier to crush the fighting spirit of the Taliban and Al-Qaeda supporting both Operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom.

Marine Aviation Logistics Squadron - 13

Marine Aviation Logistics Squadron-13 was activated March 1, 1942, at San Diego, as Headquarters and Service Squadron-13. The squadron saw frequent action in the Pacific theater during World War II before being deactivated on November 30, 1945. The squadron was reactivated March 15, 1951, at MCAS El Toro, as Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron-13, Marine Aircraft Group-13, Air Fleet Marine Force, Pacific. After several Western Pacific deployments and relocations, the squadron was reassigned during April 1966 to the 9th Marine Amphibious Brigade, Fleet Marine Forces Pacific. During September 1966, it deployed to the Republic of Vietnam.

The squadron participated in the Vietnam conflict from September 1966 to October 1970. The squadron was then relocated to El Toro, Calif., and assigned to the 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing until October 1, 1987, when the squadron moved to MCAS Yuma. On October 5, 1988, the Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron within the Marine Aircraft Group was replaced by the creation of the Marine Aviation Logistics Squadron.

From August 10, 1990 to October 15, 1991, Marines from Marine Aviation Logistics Squadron-13 responded expeditiously in providing aviation logistics support for subordinate units within Marine Aircraft Group-13, 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing, and I Marine Expeditionary Force Aviation Combat Element (ACE) activities during operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm. After successful combat operations against enemy forces in operation Desert Storm, MALS-13 personnel continued to be deployed to the Arabian Gulf region to augment Commander, Marine Forces, Southwest Asia Security Forces and assist in the reconstitution of the Maritime Prepositioning Forces ships.

In January 1994, MALS-13 personnel deployed aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Peleliu (LHA-5) in support of Operation Continue Hope/Quick Draw. During this time, MALS-13 Marines provided timely and expeditious support in the withdrawal of Army air assets from Mogadishu, Somalia to the USS Peleliu.

In April 1994, MALS-13 personnel deployed aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Peleliu (LHA-5) in support of Operation Distant Runner. During this time, MALS-13 Marines provided support to the helicopter contingent that was attached to the USS Peleliu in the evacuation of civilians from Bujumbura, Burundi.

In October 2002, the "Black Widows" of MALS-13 validated the AV-8B Harrier Remote Expeditionary Support Package (RESP) by successfully deploying the personnel, equipment, and spare parts, to Bagram Air Base, Afghanistan, to support Marine Attack Squadron-513 in flying combat sorties as part of Operation Enduring Freedom.

In January 2003, MALS-13 deployed aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Bonhomme Richard (LHD-6) in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom. A second RESP from MALS-13 also deployed ashore in Al Jaber, Kuwait, in support of VMA-214 operations ashore. Throughout this deployment, the MALS Marines provided superior intermediate-level avionics, aircraft maintenance, aviation supply, ordnance, and information systems support for MAG-13 squadrons operating both ashore and afloat.

In May 2004, MALS-13 Marines were deployed to Iraq in support of Marine Attack Squadrons 214 and 542 during Operation Iraqi Freedom. While deployed, MALS-13 Marines provided exemplary support during combat conditions, allowing the squadrons to provide close air support for I MEF combat operations.

In December 2004, MALS-13 Marines were deployed on the amphibious assault ship USS Bonhomme Richard (LHD-6) to support Marine Attack Squadron 513 in flying combat sorties as part of Operation Iraqi Freedom.

In January 2005, MALS-13 Marines provided support when the USS Bonhomme Richard was detoured to Indonesia in support of Operation Unified Assistance in the humanitarian relief of the Tsunami victims of Indonesia and neighboring countries.

During its distinguished history, Marine Aviation Logistics Squadron-13 has been awarded the Presidential Unit Citation Streamer, Navy Unit Commendation Streamer with three bronze stars, Meritorious Unit Commendation Streamer with two bronze stars, Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Streamer with one bronze star, WWII Victory Streamer, National Defense Service Streamer with two bronze stars, Vietnam Service Streamer with two silver and one bronze star, Vietnam Cross of Gallantry with Palm Streamer, Vietnam Meritorious Unit Citation with Civil Actions Streamer, and the Southwest Asia Service Streamer with two bronze stars.

Marine Aviation Weapons and Tactics Squadron One

Marine Aviation Weapons and Tactics Squadron One was commissioned June 1, 1978, in order to increase the combat readiness of aviation units. The job of the MAWTS-1 commanding officer is, in part, to coordinate and supervise the development and presentation of formal courses of instruction, academic and flight, with both the regular and reserve components.

A prime example is the semi-annual Weapons and Tactics Instructor course, a comprehensive postgraduate-level course of instruction for highly experienced officers from all aviation communities throughout the Marine Corps and selected Air Force, Army and Navy units.

Officers from infantry and ground supporting arms units also attend the course to ensure appropriate air/ground interface. The WTI course is broken down into three phases: academics, a flight syllabus and a final exercise.

The academic phase is divided into a week of generic instruction on the threat, contingencies and tactical risk management, a week of fixed wing, rotary wing and command, control and communications common instruction, and a final week of specific instruction on each particular warfare specialty.

The flight phase, which begins the third week of the course, consists of one week of specific weapons and tactics employment for each type aircraft or Marine air command control squadron agency, a second week of fixed wing and rotary wing common flight orientations and a third week of integrated flight evolutions encompassing all facets of Marine aviation. The last week of the course is set aside for a final exercise in which WTI students plan, execute and debrief integrated missions in a sophisticated threat environment.

The WTI course is designed to provide one WTI or WTI aircrew per squadron or unit per year. The object is to graduate officers who are fully qualified in their warfare specialty and capable of the planning and execution of integrated missions.

Upon successful completion of the seven-week course, the individual officer is qualified to return to his unit and conduct a professional training program which emphasizes integration with other aviation units and supporting arms and the exercising of the Marine Corps command and control system planned to support a ground scheme of maneuver.

MAWTS-1 conducts several other embedded courses during WTI for

Intelligence Officers and Enlisted personnel, Aviation Ground Support Officers, Ground Combat Officers,

MCAS – PAST AND PRESENT

Rotary Wing Crew Chiefs, KC-130 Navigators, Loadmasters, and Flight Engineers. Other formal courses include: the MEU SPMAGTF/ACE training course, and a Commander's course.

A separate Aviation Development Tactics and Evaluation Department was established in June 1983 to provide a nucleus of aviation expertise in all functional areas of Marine Corps aviation. Responsive to HQMC, Marine Corps Combat Development Command, and the operational forces, this department has already provided many significant contributions to Marine Corps aviation.

Since its establishment, individuals of superior aeronautical and tactical expertise have staffed MAWTS-1. From Northern Europe to the Caribbean, the Western Pacific and the Persian Gulf, Somalia, Haiti, and the former Yugoslavia, MAWTS-1 has responded to the needs of the "Fleet." MAWTS-1 maintains close, mutually beneficial liaison with the aviation and tactics schools of the U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force, as well as those of several allied nations. This fertile environment has spawned many innovative and unique tactical developments employed throughout the Naval Service.

Squadron administrative offices may be contacted by calling 269-2060.

Marine Wing Support Squadron - 371

Marine Wing Support Squadron-371 was commissioned on June 2, 1986, to provide essential aviation ground support to fixed-wing components of Marine aviation units. The squadron currently supports Marine Aircraft Group-13 and supplements services provided by Marine Corps Air Station Yuma.

MWSS-371 provides the equipment, personnel, and expertise necessary to accomplish all functions of aviation ground support, including law enforcement; meteorological support; internal airfield communications; aircraft rescue and firefighting; explosive ordnance disposal; engineer services; runway construction and repair; heavy equipment support; motor transport support; aircraft refueling; messing; medical services; nuclear, biological, and chemical support; and training.

Four times a year, the squadron demonstrates its capabilities by supporting Marine Aviation Weapons and Tactics Squadron 1 during its semiannual Weapons and Tactics Instructor courses and semi annual Desert Talon exercises. Additionally, MWSS-371 conducts mission-oriented training and participates in numerous joint exercises and deployments to cultivate a combat-ready mindset. It also supports community service projects to enhance its expertise and maintain perishable skills. The squadron has distinguished itself in Operations Desert Storm and Desert Shield and, more recently, in Operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom, where it established multiple Forward Arming and Refueling Points in Iraq and concurrently supported two major air bases in Kuwait.

MWSS-371 is located in building 3219 at the Cannon Air Defense Complex about seven miles southeast of the air station. The duty officer can be reached at 269-2506.

Marine Air Control Squadron - 1

Marine Air Control Squadron-1 (Reinforced) is a Fleet Marine Force unit subordinate to Marine Air Control

Group-38 of the 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing. Its mission is to provide control for antiaircraft warfare operations and continuous all-weather Air Traffic Control services. Equipped with the AN/TYQ-23 Tactical Air Operations Module, surveillance and precision approach radars, and the Marine Air Traffic Control and Landing System (MATCALS), the squadron provides the Tactical Air Operations Center (TAOC) and Air Traffic Control for the Marine Air Command and Control System. The TAOC controls and coordinates surface-to-air and air-to-air missile intercepts, while digitally interfacing with other air control and air defense agencies of the United States and of other allied nations. The MATCALS is responsible for providing all-weather air traffic control services for airfields the Air Wing operates from.

MACS-1 is currently headquartered at Marine Corps Air Station Yuma and has remote Detachments at MCAS Miramar and MCB Camp Pendleton. The Squadron was first activated at Cherry Point, N.C., on September 1, 1943, as Air Warning Squadron-1 (AWS-1).

During World War II, AWS-1 saw action in the Marshall Islands and Okinawa. Tasked to provide air control of aircraft, AWS-1 disembarked on the Enebi Islands on February 20, 1944.

On March 1, 1944, the unit assumed primary control of all aircraft in the area. The first enemy action occurred on March 8, 1944, when an AWS-1 radar detected enemy aircraft. The first successful intercept came on the night of April 14, when AWS-1 directed Marine F-4U night fighters resulting in two enemy planes being shot down.

From April 21 to June 30, 1945, the unit participated in the Okinawa Campaign. Radar-controlled intercepts tallied 62 kills by the end of the campaign. After the Japanese surrender, AWS-1 was ordered to Marine Corps Air Station Miramar, Calif., on April 14, 1946. It was redesignated Marine Ground Control Intercept Squadron-1 (MGCIS-1) in August 1946. The squadron relocated to Marine Corps Base Camp Pendleton, Calif., during July 1947.

In response to the demands of the Korean War, MGCIS-1 boarded the USS

MCAS – PAST AND PRESENT

General Anderson on July 14, 1950, and deployed to Korea. MGCIS-1 landed at Inchon, Korea, September 17, 1950. The squadron moved to Yon-Po to provide surveillance, guide lost aircraft to radar-equipped landing fields, and direct air support aircraft to Direct Air Support Center (DASC) forward air controllers.

A detachment transferred to a warship to detect strikes, flights, and rescues. The remainder of the squadron went to K-1 Airfield at Pusan, Korea, on 17 December 1950.

MGCIS-1 moved to a 3,000-foot peak called Chon-San during March 1951 to assume air surveillance responsibility for the Pusan area. On October 18, 1951, the squadron moved to Kunsan, Korea, where it would remain until April 8, 1955.

While in Korea, MGCIS-1 operated from Inchon-Seoul, Chosin Reservoir, and the East Central and Western fronts. The squadron also participated in the defense of the Korean Demilitarized Zone. On February 15, 1954, Marine Ground Control Intercept Squadron-1 was redesignated as Marine Air Control Squadron-1. Fourteen months later, during April 1955, MACS-1 redeployed to Atsugi, Japan.

On March 1, 1960, the squadron departed Japan and returned to the United States and was based at the Marine Corps Auxiliary Air Station Yuma. The squadron participated in various training exercises and provided radar-controlled air intercept training to Marine Corps aviation units.

On February 1, 1972, MACS-1 was deactivated at MCAS Yuma.

After a 12-year hiatus, MACS-1 was reactivated October 7, 1983, at Marine Corps Base Camp Pendleton. The activation of MACS-1 doubled the air control capability of 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing. Additionally, MACS-1 was designated the test squadron for the AN/TYQ-23, Tactical Air Operations Module (TAOM), a new air control system developed for the Marine Corps. The operational testing was successfully completed in October 1986. From that time until the present, MACS-1 has deployed in numerous Fleet Marine Force exercises, both overseas and in the United States.

From August 15, 1990, through October 17, 1990, MACS-1 deployed as part of the 7th Marine Expeditionary Brigade (MEB) to Southwest Asia (SWA), in support of Operation Desert Shield. While deployed to SWA, MACS-1 provided early warning to all MAGTF (FWD) units and played a key role in designing air space management procedures and the operation of data links. Upon MACS-1's return to Camp Pendleton, a detachment of Marines was designated to remain in support of Operation Desert Storm. Detachment 'A' remained in SWA until March 20, 1991.

MACS-1 completed six years of gar-rison and field-testing of the TAOM on March 27, 1992. MACS-1 deployed the first TAOM to Roving Sands in 1992, and in 1994 supported Tactical Ballistic Missile testing in exercises at White sands Missile Range, N.M., and McGregor Range, Fort Bliss, Texas.

On June 26, 1998, MACS-1 moved to MCAS Yuma, joined with MACS-7 (Rein), and collectively reorganized and redesignated themselves as MACS-1 (Rein).

The squadron now consists of its Headquarters and six detachments: Headquarters and Service Detachment, Tactical Air Operations Center Detachment, Early Warning and Control Center Detachment, and Air Traffic Control Detachment C, located at MCAS Yuma; Air Traffic Control Detachment A, located at Camp Pendleton; and Air Traffic Control Detachment B, located at MCAS Miramar. The squadron headquarters is located at the Cannon Air Defense Complex, which is approximately seven miles southeast of MCAS Yuma.

MACS-1 has recently been a major component to the Air Campaigns in Operations Southern Watch,

Enduring Freedom, and Iraqi Freedom, with the deployment of several components to theater in two major waves, from November 2002 to June 2003. MACS-1 also orchestrated the conception of Killbox Interdiction Close Air Support (KI/CAS) operations, and the Marine Air Traffic Control Mobile Teams (MMTs) in Iraq during OIF.

The squadron administrative office may be contacted by calling (928) 269-3905.

Marine Fighter Training Squadron - 401

Marine Fighter Training Squadron 401, a component of the 4th Marine Aircraft Wing, was activated at MCAS Yuma March 18, 1986. The squadron's mission is to improve the Marine Corps' air-to-air combat readiness by employing current threat tactics against Marine pilots.

The "Snipers" of VMFT-401 are mostly Marine Corps Reserve pilots serving in Active Reserve or weekend drill status. Flying the F-5E and F-5N Tiger II aircraft, they provide realistic training for Marine, Air Force and Navy pilots using dissimilar aggressor aircraft tactics. The F-5's appearance and flight characteristics enable the "Snipers" to simulate various types of threat aircraft. VMFT-401, the only aggressor squadron in the Marine Corps, takes part in Marine training exercises at Yuma and throughout the United States.

Maintenance for the squadron's aircraft is provided by contract with Sikorsky Support Services, Inc. The squadron is located in building 146. Its administrative section can be reached at (928) 269-5502.

Combat Service Support Detachment - 16

Combat Service Support Detachment-16 is a subordinate element of Combat Logistics Regiment-15, 1st Marine Logistic Group, based at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The mission of CSSD-16 is to provide combat service support to a Marine Expeditionary Air Base when deployed, and to support units stationed or training in the vicinity of MCAS Yuma.

CSSD-16 was activated on Oct. 1, 1988, as Detachment C, 1st FSSG, and later redesignated as CSSD-16, 1st FSSG, on Dec. 27, 1989. The organization will be redesignated again as a Combat Logistics Company (CLC) in the spring of 2006 upon completion of the Marine Corps realignment and restructuring of logistics units.

The detachment provides intermediate supply support and maintenance support for engineer, motor transport, and ordnance equipment. CSSD-16 Marines and Sailors also serve aboard the Air Station at the Law Center, Military Post Office, and Disbursing Office.

With a unit strength of about 80 Marines and sailors, CSSD-16 is headquartered in building 610. For more information, contact the unit at (928) 269-2521.

Local Attractions

Yuma

Yuma is located in the Yuma and Gila valleys of southwestern Arizona and offers a climate that blends desert sunshine with the cool waters of the Colorado River. The southern Arizona desert is known for its summertime heat, but it would be difficult to find a winter climate more suitable to outdoor activities than Yuma's. Temperatures hover in the 70s and the humidity readings are among the lowest in the nation. Clean air and bright sunshine affords residents and visitors alike a year round vista of surrounding rugged mountains.

Ranked by Money Magazine as one of the top places to live in the United States, many of the people who visit Yuma return to raise a family, retire in comfort, or simply take advantage of being part of one of America's fastest growing cities.

Yuma's rich history offers a variety of options for those seeking to learn about the Old West. In the 1850s, the Yuma Crossing was the gateway to California for gold seekers. The Yuma Territorial Prison State Park and Quartermaster Depot top the list of sites most visited by tourists.

Military personnel assigned to Yuma will find the community both supportive and friendly. Quarterly "block parties" and other special events on the downtown mall are excellent opportunities to get out and meet the locals.

Yuma residents can enjoy the soothing waters of the Colorado River and nearby lakes, lush golf courses, a diverse selection of restaurants and shopping boutiques including the Yuma Palms Shopping Center, natural wildlife and breathtaking scenery.

Yuma is surrounded by fantastic wildlife viewing areas. Betty's Kitchen Interpretive Trail, located off Avenue 7E, is a popular spot for bird watchers and bluegill fishermen. Largemouth bass, stripers and channel catfish are plentiful in Mitry Lake and the Colorado River. Hunters come to Yuma from all over the West to enjoy the abundance of dove, pheasant, chukar and bobwhite quail.

There are also three National Wildlife Refuges within an hour's drive. The Cibola, Imperial and Kofa National Wildlife Refuges provide hiking trails with signs identifying points of interest and types of plants. The Imperial Sand Dunes, just across the California border, offer plenty of space for both off-roading and camping in the desert.

Whether hunting, fishing, watching wildlife or just enjoying the beautiful sunsets, you'll find Yuma is an outdoor wonderland.

Lake Havasu

Just 160 miles north of Yuma, Lake Havasu City, Ariz., is fast gaining a reputation among travelers as the vacation destination in the Southwest. In today's economy more and more travelers are searching for alternatives to stretch vacation dollars. Lake Havasu appeals to vacationers from all over the country, offering year-round sunshine, golf courses, water and desert recreation, a variety of hotel/condo style accommodations, modern RV parks from which to choose, and of course, the world famous London Bridge.

LOCAL ATTRACTIONS

Unique shops, boutiques, discount centers, cultural and night life diversity and restaurants that appeal to everyone from the gourmet dinner to the budget conscious family add to Lake Havasu's appeal.

Endless days of sunshine, clear blue skies and spectacular sunsets turn the rugged mountain skyline into flaming red and orange.

For more information, contact the Lake Havasu Area Visitor and Convention Bureau at 1-800-242-8278 or write them at 314 London Bridge Road, Lake Havasu City, AZ 86403.

Mexico

Most visitors to Yuma enjoy a trip across the border to Mexico. No foreign country except Canada is easier to visit. United States citizens do not need passports for visits less than 72 hours within 75 miles of the border. For longer stays or travel farther into Mexico, a tourist card may be obtained free, with proof of U.S. citizenship, from Mexican consulates, tourism offices and some travel agencies.

When visiting Mexico, current station policy requires all personnel to travel with friends and obey the laws and customs of the locals. Additionally, station policy requires all E-5s and below to obtain a liberty chit five days prior to visiting Mexico. The military police maintain a liaison with Mexican police officials and the U.S. Border Patrol.

San Luis, south of Yuma on Highway 95, is the largest city along the border in Sonora, Mexico. Shopping holds a special appeal for most visitors. Park on the U.S. side and walk into Mexico.

Algodones, seven miles to the southwest, is the closest Mexican town to Yuma. Take Interstate 8 west to the Algodones/Andrade Exit and proceed south (left) for about three miles. It's a good place to enjoy lunch and limited shopping. Again, park and walk across the border.

El Golfo Santa Clara, located 65 miles south of San Luis, draws large holiday crowds, which converge to ride all-terrain vehicles on the seemingly endless beaches and camp under the stars near the Sea of Cortez. Accommodations are very limited, with beach camping recommended for the experienced. Street signs mark the way along the 2 1/2-hour drive. Americans are advised to buy Mexican auto insurance and carry bottled water.

Mexicali is a winter sunspot just across the border from California's Imperial Valley. Mexicali, the seat of government for Baja, California, is unique among border cities in that its size and economic strength are not the result of proximity to the United States or tourism. The hub of a major agricultural region, it offers hundreds of stores, shops and a metropolitan night life.

Phoenix

One of the world's premier leisure destinations, Phoenix is soon to be the fifth largest city in the U.S. with more than 1.3 million residents and growing. It is located about 180 miles east of Yuma.

Residents and tourists alike enjoy more than 300 sunshine-filled days in a metropolis appropriately dubbed the Valley of the Sun.

With nearly 200 golf courses dotting the landscape, golf rules in the recreational department. But amidst all that thirsty greenery still sits the Sonoran Desert's most obvious amenity — the naturally rugged, yet beautiful terrain.

Thousands of acres of dry mountain preserve and cacti-enriched hillsides offer challenging trails for the Valley's hikers, bikers and horseback riders. During the spring, this same rugged terrain transforms into a colorful palette of wildflower-packed scenery that is frequently captured on photograph and canvas.

Mild weather conditions also allow for a variety of air sports to include soaring over the Sonoran Desert in a two-seat glider or lofting above the rural areas in a hot air balloon operated by one of many companies offering daily flights.

Innertubing down the Salt River also offers a surprisingly cool diversion from the summer heat. The state's Urban Fishing Program provides yet another diversion — fishing inside city parks — and the valley's resorts offer a splashing good time poolside.

Twenty-three communities, including four of the oldest — Mesa, Phoenix, Scottsdale and Tempe — offer a wide range of activities, dining, shopping and cultural events. Scottsdale, long described as the West's Most Western Town, ranks as one of the top tourist destinations in America. Some of the Phoenix/Scottsdale/Tempe area attractions include: the Desert Botanical Garden, featuring 139 rare and endangered plant species from around the globe, spread out over 50 acres of indoor and outdoor exhibits; and Rawhide, an authentic 1880s Boomtown, complete with western dining, shops, street shows, saloon, stagecoach, pony rides and much more.

Phoenix is also home to several sporting events. The Phoenix Suns NBA franchise arrived first. Professional hockey, soccer, arena football, and NFL football followed. The most recent arrival was the Arizona Diamondbacks. The team, which plays at a state-of-the-art baseball stadium, recently won the World Series in 2001. Other sports include the PGA's Phoenix Open, Arizona State University college athletics, Tostitos Fiesta Bowl in Glendale and Scottsdale's Parada del Sol rodeo. Nine Major League Baseball teams also conduct spring training here, including two recent additions the Kansas City Royals and Texas Rangers.

Tucson

Tucson is truly a city of diversity. Located 300 miles east of Yuma on Interstate 8, it is surrounded by lush deserts, cool mountain forests and a historical mixture of many cultures, which have made it a modern metropolis.

Popular one-day excursions are offered by air and ground to many famous sites, such as Old Pueblo, Tombstone and the scientific space experiment — Biosphere 2. Visitors are encouraged to experience the thrill and sensation of driving on ice at the Desert Ice Raceway, or watch the races at the Malibu Grand Prix.

The warm climate year-round makes Tucson ideal for sports; especially golf, which can be enjoyed on any of the city's 46 golf courses. Other popular pastimes for sports enthusiasts include greyhound racing, horseback riding, tennis, and University of Arizona athletic events.

One major attraction which brings tourism to Tucson is the Flandrau Science Center and Planetarium, which features educational star theater programs, laser light shows and walk-through asteroid exhibits. Another is the Pima Air & Space Museum, with nearly 270 aircraft documenting America's aviation history.

Additional sites to see include the Reid Park Zoo, Kitt Peak National Observatory, Old Tucson Studios, and Colossal Cave Mountain Park.
